Driven by high winds that wrought considerable damage and played havoc with piers, fishing and pleasure boats early Sunday at neighboring beach resorts, one of the heaviest and most valuable rainfalls in years drenched Santa Ana and vicinity over the weekend.

Almost two and a half inches of precipitation was officially recorded here during the latest storm, the exact figure being 2.48 inches for the 24-hour period ending this morning.

Streets Flooded
Reaching its greatest intensity early Sunday, the near record-breaking rain flooded streets and highways, sidewalks, many residences and business house basements, overburdened hundreds of half-lowered awnings, and overtaxed sewers in almost every section of the city and outlying towns.

The downpour brought Santa Ana's seasonal rainfall figure to 5.67 inches, or 4.43 inches more than had fallen here in the corresponding period of last year. The total rainfall for Santa Ana so far this year was measured at 8.73 inches.

General weather forecasts for this section of the state this morning indicated that present rainfall

FIGHT ON NRA MEASURE LOOMS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—(UP)—Sharp differences among administration supporters over an N.R.A. "substitute" pointed today to a long congressional controversy.

With the new session but eight days away, a high administration source said studies still were being made of methods to approach the problem of national regulation of labor and trade practices.

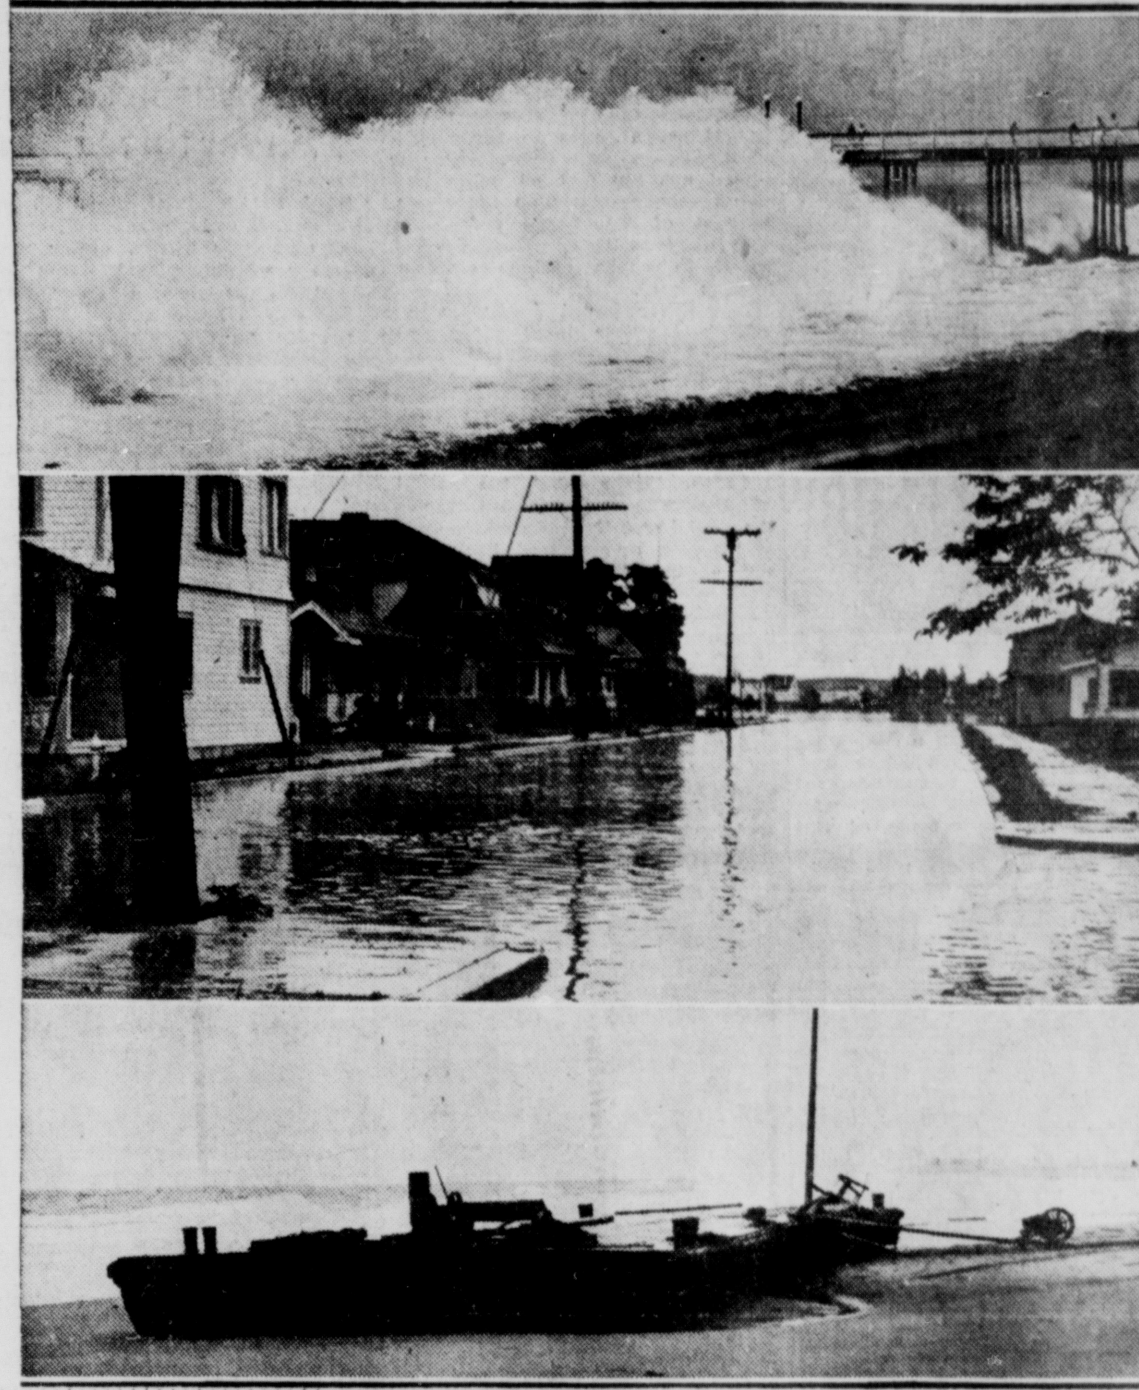

Neither the O'Mahoney federal incorporation plan, nor the proposal for strengthening the anti-trust laws has yet received outright administration backing.

Sen. Joseph O'Mahoney, D., Wyo., said it will include a new and direct plan to abolish child labor by authorizing states to ban products manufactured by children under 16. It is the same means used to eliminate convict-made goods from interstate commerce.

Backed by the American Federation of Labor and the Committee for Industrial Organization, the Black-Conner 30-hour week bill will be pushed when congress convenes. It provides for licensing of industries in interstate commerce with a return of the "license fee" where short-weeks are established by employers.

BEACH RESORTS BATTERED BY WINDS AND OCEAN

Taken at the height of Sunday's rain and windstorm that struck beach resorts from Long Beach to San Diego, the picture at the top shows graphically the strength of the near-gale that whipped the sea to fury and tore at the beach foundations. The center photograph catches the seven-foot tide in a canal at Balboa Island, where bulkheads crashed under weight of water and streets were inundated. The bottom photo is that of a fishing barge that was torn from its moorings and battered until the structure was broken and scattered for miles along the beach. Huntington Beach is in the right foreground.

ITALIANS STOP AID TO REBELS

ROME, Dec. 28.—(UP)—Italy has suspended shipment of "volunteers" to Spain pending negotiations for a general agreement to forbid the dispatch of men to either faction in the civil war, persons close to the government said today.

Usually reliable informants said that the mysterious "Count Rossi," commander of the Italian contingents based in the Balearic Islands off the Spanish east coast, had returned "for the Christmas holidays" and that his whereabouts were unknown. The implication seemed to be that he would not return if all went well.

There was in addition an unconfirmed report in diplomatic quarters that Italy already had started evacuation of the Balearic Islands as the result of its imminent agreement on Mediterranean co-operation with Great Britain.

Italian officials never have admitted formally the presence of "Count Rossi" and other Italians at Majorca, the big rebel base in the Balearics. But private forces have given circumstantial reports of their activity, and identified "Count Rossi" as Arconovaldo Bonaccorsi, a lawyer of Rome. He commanded mixed forces in Majorca, a majority of them said to be Italian "volunteers."

Man Takes $500 To Aid Friend

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Dec. 28.—(UP)—William Harvey, 24, assertedly confessed to San Diego police today to the theft of $500 from a Washington, D. C., restaurant in order to clear a friend accused of the crime. He was booked on a technical charge of suspected felony, pending word from Washington authorities.

Car Owners Receive Tax Cards Today

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Dec. 28.—(UP)—California motorists today received notice of what it will cost to obtain 1937 license plates for their automobiles.

Nearly 2,500,000 postal cards listing the registration fees and amount of the "in lieu" tax were mailed to car owners, the department of motor vehicles announced.

The registration fee for passenger cars is $3 while the "in lieu" tax, enacted by the legislature to replace city and county personal property assessments, is based on a rate of $1.75 per $100 valuation.

License plates will be available at any branch office of the department beginning January 2 upon presentation of the card and registration certificate. Where owners have completed payments on machines purchased on contract or through mortgage, the certificate of ownership also must be presented, department officials said.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—(UP)—President Roosevelt was reported today likely to intervene in a three-cornered cabinet feud over control of the popular Civilian Conservation Corps.

BUILDING FOR YEAR IN GAIN

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—(UP)—From coast to coast, the clatter of hammers and the roar of machinery heralds the New Year in a spurt of building construction unprecedented since the first year of the depression.

City after city reported in a United Press survey today that building permits issued during the first eleven months of this year exceeded the total figures for any year since 1930 or 1931.

Building authorities explained a tremendous shortage on modern homes still exists, and this presages an even greater building boom.

New York City, the nation's largest city, led the country with permits obtained for $195,517,507 worth of building for the first 11 months. Los Angeles was second with $58,229,257 and Detroit was third with $39,595,000.

Only three cities out of the 333 covered in the United Press survey reported building during the first 11 months this year failed to equal the full year of 1935. They were Austin, Tex., Kansas City, Mo., and Buffalo, N. Y.

GANDHI READY TO TAKE LEADERSHIP

BOMBAY, India, Dec. 28.—(UP)—Mahatma Gandhi today told 19,000 delegates to the All-India Nationalist congress at Faizpur that he was ready to resume nationalist leadership, offering to go to jail or to the scaffold if necessary.

In his first political utterance since his retirement from politics in 1934, the Mahatma said he was "no extinct volcano" but he confessed his program of non-violence had failed to appeal to the Indian nationalist public.

KIDNAPER OF BOY SOUGHT BY U. S. MEN

Fingerprints on $28,000 Ransom Message Being Checked by Police

TACOMA, Wash., Dec. 28.—(UP)—Fingerprints found on the $28,000 ransom note left by a masked armed man who kidnaped little Charles Mattson, 10, from his home late Sunday, sent G-men and police on a search of Bertillon records today.

The note was examined at police headquarters and an officer said fingerprints had been found on the paper, which was of poor quality, possibly newsprint.

To Use Classified

The boy's parents, Dr. and Mrs. William W. Mattson, are to contact the kidnaper through the classified advertising columns of a Seattle newspaper, it was learned authoritatively.

The kidnaper asked that the ransom be in old currency, $10,000 in small denomination used bills, and $18,000 in $50 and $100 greenbacks.

Dr. Mattson, a well-to-do but not wealthy physician and surgeon was said to be ready to follow the instructions set forth in the note.

Crime Copied

Officials believed the kidnaper may have copied the plan of the Weyerhaeuser crime.

The Mattson home is just two blocks from the home of the late John P. Weyerhaeuser, grandfather of George, The Weyerhaeuser boy

HENRY FORD GETS NEW CAR PATENT

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—(UP)—The United States patent office today issued to Henry Ford a patent on a revolutionary new kind of automobile, which may foreshadow a vast change in appearance and operation of the motor cars he manufactures.

This latest of Ford's many automotive inventions calls for a car with the engine placed almost directly over the rear wheels. Motor, clutch, transmission and axle gears are built as a unit and mounted in rubber.

The engine is placed sideways in the car, so that the radiator is above the right rear wheel. Drawings submitted by Ford indicate the motor is a standard V-8 power plant, such as propels his present cars.

Although he did not show how such a rear-motored automobile would look, other automotive engineers said such a car would be susceptible to stream-lining in the ninth degree, with bulbous nose and flattened tail, giving it the appearance of a tear-drop, which is perfectly streamlined by nature.

PRESIDENT'S SON IMPROVED TODAY

BOSTON, Dec. 28.—(UP)—Although weakened by four nasal hemorrhages, Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., today was reported recovering "satisfactorily" from a sinus infection at Phillips House of Massachusetts General hospital, where he has been confined since November 25.

His mother, Mrs. Roosevelt, and his fiancée, Miss Ethel Du Pont, visited him twice yesterday.

Dr. George Loring Tobey Jr., attending physician, said there had been a "moderate nasal hemorrhage Saturday afternoon, which was readily controlled."

Falls Dead As Daughter Misses Word

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—(UP)—Morris Fenykes, 34, beamed proudly as his 11-year-old daughter, Edith, spelled correctly "sintillating" and all the other hard words in a $5 contest. It began to look as if Edith would win.

The announcer called out "silhouette." Edith began, "s-i-l-l." The announcer waved her aside. Fenykes half rose from his chair, clutched his side and fell dead.

$50,000 BANK DEAL IS CLOSED

A long pending deal, involving over $50,000, was consummated when the Bank of America took over the property at the corner of Forest avenue and Coast Boulevard south, Laguna Beach, owned by the Waring estate, under 99-year lease to J. H. Johanneson, executive of the Bon-Hur Coffee company, and occupied by half-a-dozen various business enterprises.

While official confirmation from Bank of America officials is not obtainable, it is known that conferences held last week, between Mr. Johanneson, Frank B. Hever, Laguna manager of Bank of America, and L. M. Giannini, of the executive board of the bank, culminated in the transfer of the choice holding. Tenants now under month to month lease, including Vandermast's, Neale's, and others, will have several months in which to find other locations.

Plans of the new owners include a bank building occupying approximately 30 feet on Coast boulevard, by 90 feet on Forest avenue. The Sandwich Mill, under long lease, will occupy the remainder of the property, with frontages on both the boulevard and the avenue.

The property involved in the deal is well known to passers-through Laguna Beach, being known as the "Sandwich Mill corner" and was, until recently, adorned with a gigantic lighted clock, which made an advertising landmark familiar to the countryside.

F. D. R. TO GIVE MESSAGE JAN. 6

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—(UP)—President Roosevelt will again deliver his message to the new congress in person, rather than having it read by a clerk, Speaker William Bankhead said today.

The speaker said the message will be delivered on Wednesday, January 6, about mid-afternoon. Congress convenes Tuesday, January 5.

Bankhead said the president would go to the house chamber and appear before a joint session of both houses and senate immediately after the formal ratification of vote of the electoral college. Approval of the electoral vote is expected by 2 p. m.

The president's annual message is expected to cover his legislative program. It will mark the first time, due to the Norris lane duck amendment, that a president has appeared with his annual message prior to his inauguration.

Woman Held In Fresno Slaying

FRESNO, Calif., Dec. 28.—(UP)—Mrs. Cora Switzer, who has told authorities seven different versions of a terrific fight in which Emory Parr, 40, was slain, was held today. Parr's decapitated body was found near a railroad track.

George Overholt, sheriff, said an effort was made to make it appear that Parr had been killed by a train. An autopsy, however, revealed he was killed and his body carried to the tracks. The face and head were mutilated in an effort to prevent identification, the sheriff said.

Parr was killed at the home of Dr. and Mrs. P. C. Lindsey. The Lindseys and Bernard Smith, their caretaker, hired Parr to watch the house when they went to Los Angeles for the holidays.

AIRLINE RUSHES SEARCHING PARTY TO SCENE OF CRASH; WINGS, MOTORS TORN OFF

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 28.—(UP)—A big United Air Lines transport, missing since last night with a full load of nine passengers and three crew members aboard, was found today smashed against a mountainside 35 miles north of here.

Airmen circling above the wreckage said there was no sign of life. A sister ship of the lost transport, which took off at the report of its discovery and flew to the scene, returned with the gloomy confirmation. The fuselage was wedged against a rocky ridge and at least one wing was lying some distance away, officials said. Haze prevented clear vision.

MAN DIES IN CAR ACCIDENT

An unidentified, elderly man was dead today, Orange county's 78th traffic victim this year, following an accident in San Clemente about 7:30 o'clock last night, and Rafael Allen, 58, 1119 State highway, Sunset Beach, was in a Long Beach hospital in critical condition, result of an automobile crash on Coast highway at Broadway, Sunset Beach, about 10 o'clock this morning.

Allen, who apparently was knocked from his automobile when it collided with one driven by John Covert, 55, San Diego, suffered a bad skull fracture, rib fractures and bruises, according to information given California Highway Officer Horace Inge, who investigated.

The elderly man, a transient carrying a sack on his back, according to investigation of Police Chief Wendell B. Lovell and Officer Jay Decker of San Clemente, was walking along Coast highway, in San Clemente, on the right side. A car containing William A. Parsons, 28, San Diego, and Louis Bauer, National City, struck the man down, according to reports. It was reported Parsons was the car driver.

Blinded By Rain
A light rainfall, it was indicated, blinded the driver as the car crashed into the man on the pavement. He suffered skull fracture, crushed chest and multiple fractures, dying before he had arrived at the Esslinger emergency hospital in San Juan Capistrano.

In other accidents during the week end, a dozen persons escaped with minor injuries. Mrs. Mary Williams and Miss Betty Williams, her daughter, of Costa Mesa, were cut and bruised in an accident yesterday, according to reports from Santa Ana Valley hospital, where they were treated.

The warship's name and present location and the nature of the orders were not revealed, but it was expected the cruiser would merely stand by until the "Palos" incident has been settled.

Ex-Convict Dies In Denver Battle

BAILEY, Colo., Dec. 28.—(UP)—The bullet riddled body of Edward Johns, 35, Bakersfield, Cal., ex-convict and suspected Denver holdup man, lay in Park County mortuary at Fairplay, Colo., today awaiting an autopsy. The man was shot to death early yesterday in a four-gun battle with police.

Johnson, who barricaded himself in his hotel room and held six Denver policemen and a deputized posse at bay despite machine gun and tear gas attacks, was identified through his fingerprints in the Denver Bertillon department.

Parr was killed at the home of Dr. and Mrs. P. C. Lindsey. The Lindseys and Bernard Smith, their caretaker, hired Parr to watch the house when they went to Los Angeles for the holidays.

SANTANDER, Spain, Dec. 28.—(UP)—Fifty-five persons were killed and 90 wounded, it was announced today, when nationalist airplanes bombed Maliano, suburb of Santander.

It was said the victims were civilians, most of them women and children. Five government fighting planes drove off the nationalist fleet, which was made up of 18 planes.

BACH CONCERT IS PRESENTED AT M. E. CHURCH

This year's Christmas season was climaxed yesterday afternoon with a Vesper Concert given by Cecilia Singers and First Methodist church choir at 4:30 o'clock under the direction of Halstead McCormack.

The large audience heard the first performance in Santa Ana of the Bach Cantata No. 149 "Let Songs of Rejoicing Be Raised" and "The Christmas Oratorio" Part I, also by the great German composer. From the first notes of the Introit, "Veni Immanuel" (Plainsong), the combined chorus commanded the attention of the listeners with many dynamic effects; the final bars of the opening chorus of the Bach Cantata was sung with great weight and with a long rallentando, in true Bach fashion.

The rendition of the Christmas Oratorio was beautifully opened with the singing of a soprano recitative "Now It Came to Pass in Those Days" by Elizabeth Morgan, whose bell-like tones and clarity were a delight to the listeners. Laura Joiner, popular contralto soloist, gave a fitting reading of the tender aria, "Prepare Thyself Zion," Stanley Kurtz, the city's outstanding baritone soloist, received warm praise for his rendition of the aria "Mighty Lord and King All Glorious," one of Bach's greatest solos for the bass voice. In the Christmas Oratorio the chorus also was heard in two chorals, "How Shall I Pity Meet Thee" and "Ain! Dearest Jesus, Holy Child."

Highlights of the Cantata No. 149, aside from the inspiring opening chorus, were Mr. Kurtz's solo, "God, Whose Power Never Fails," and a florid soprano solo ably sung by Irma Rutter. Cecilia Singers again performed "Praise Our God Who Reigns in Heaven," an excerpt from another Bach Cantata. High praise was given the piano accompanist, Esther Vogt, who supported the soloists with brilliantly executed passages; Miss Vogt is fast establishing a reputation as one of the city's outstanding accompanists. Christine Lambert at the console of the Murray Harris organ gave excellent support to the chorus.

Irma Rutter, Elizabeth Morgan, Laura Joiner, La Verne Van Wyk, Mark Hare, Gustav Koehler, H. F. Kenny, and Josh Brady joined as a double quartet in a first rendition here of a liturgical motet by Healey Willan entitled "Hodie, Christus Natus Est." The chorus filled out the afternoon's program with an antiphonal 17th Century arrangement of a Christmas Hymn and the brilliantly executed "Carol of The Russian Children" by Harvey Gaul. They closed the concert with the Finale from H. Alexander Matthews' "The Story of Christmas," which reached a captivating fortissimo at the climax.

It was learned that Cecilia Singers and the First Methodist church choir will again join in a performance of Handel's "Messiah" on Sunday, January 24th, and it is expected that the church will be filled to capacity for that event.

SHIP CRASHES ON MOUNTAIN

the end of a two hour flight from San Francisco, apparently lost the radio directional beam sent out to guide him through the murky weather. Radio men said the direction beam was functioning but said "Blom wasn't on it."

C. E. Johnson, airline division superintendent, who took charge of the search, said the last message from Blom gave no indication of impending trouble. He refused to reveal the exact wording of the messages.

The ship crashed, he said, approximately 30 minutes after Blom's last word—"wait a minute."

Passenger, Crew List
A revised list of those aboard the ship, issued by United Airlines today, follows:
Pilot Edwin W. Blom, 33, Burbank, Calif.
Co-pilot Robert McLean, Oakland, Calif.
Stewardess Yvonne Trego, 24, Oakland, recently transferred from the east. Her home is in Hastings, Neb.
Miss Ev. Vallance, 1134 Huff avenue, San Leandro, Calif.
Frank Teague, Los Angeles, employee of Walt Disney Film studios. His mother lives at 1427 Mound street, Alameda, Calif.
Alex Novak, El Centro, Calif., employee of the Grapefruit Growers association. A brother lives at 885 Oakland avenue, St. Paul, Minn.
Mrs. Warren A. Newton, Los Angeles, veteran administration employee.
Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Ford Jr., San Marino, Calif. Ford was a Standard Oil executive and son of a Grace steamship line vice president.

It was learned that Cecilia Singers and the First Methodist church choir will again join in a performance of Handel's "Messiah" on Sunday, January 24th, and it is expected that the church will be filled to capacity for that event.

Not one American-built plane saw combat service over the Western Front during the World War, American squadrons having flown British and French ships.

The transport, No. 34, took to the air from San Francisco at 5:30 p. m. yesterday and was due here two hours later.

Reported Regularly
Until the airliner was nearly at the home port here no trouble was encountered. Pilot Blom reported regularly to ground radio stations along the route. At 7:09 he contacted the radio control station at Taft and said he would land his plane at Burbank 15 minutes later.

Then the plane entered the Burbank control area and was swallowed up in the storm. Blom's last word was "Wait a minute," flashed about 8:45. Then the air was silent.

Practically for three hours ground stations from Palo Alto, Cal., to Kingman, Ariz., flashed calls for the missing ship No. 34.

Until 10:30 p. m., United Air Lines officials waited at the airport, watches in hand. Then they announced that the ship had exhausted her gasoline supply and must be down.

STORMY WEATHER DELAYS SEARCH FOR AIRPLANE
SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Dec. 28.—(UP)—For the second successive day, stormy weather today forced a halt in a search for a Western Air Express transport plane, missing 14 days with seven persons aboard.

The U. S. Weather bureau reported a general snowfall today at Milford, Utah, 200 miles south of Salt Lake City, and the area south of Milford where the search recently has been concentrated.

Visibility was poor and the ceiling too low to permit aerial searches clear view of the mountains where they believe the big ship may have vanished while en route from Los Angeles to Salt Lake City.

Weather conditions forced postponement of regularly scheduled commercial flights also. Western Air placed passengers scheduled to have flown to Los Angeles aboard their morning plane on a train, while United Airlines deferred a scheduled 9 a. m. trip to San Francisco pending clearing weather.

RESIDENT OF ANAHEIM LOSES LIFE IN CRASH

Thrown from the car in which she was riding and crushed beneath it as it overturned, Mrs. Ethel Cain, 43, of 319 South Kroeger street, Anaheim, was almost instantly killed shortly before noon yesterday on Old San Gabriel boulevard near Whittier.

The car was driven by her husband, James Cain, when it collided with a car driven by Andrew G. Merry of 757 South Brice road. El Monte, at the intersection of Syphon road and San Gabriel. The Cain car spun around twice and it was believed by another passenger that the door on Mrs. Cain's side flew open at this time. The car eventually overturned on the Anaheim woman.

Mrs. Cain was dragged from the wreckage and rushed to the Whittier emergency hospital in the car of a passerby. She died enroute; it is believed of a fractured skull and internal injuries.

Also in the Cain car were Mrs. Eva Hare of Rialto and Mrs. Effie Elliott of 809 Paulina, Anaheim. Mr. Cain was driving the three women to Porterville where they were going to work and he planned to return on the bus. He suffered a bruised leg; Mrs. Elliott complained of an injured side; and a boy in the Merry car was believed slightly injured. All injuries were slight.

Neither driver was held following the accident. It was believed at an early hour that the inquest would be held today with funeral announcement to follow.

Mrs. Cain was born and raised in Hanford, Calif. She came to Anaheim about 12 years ago and two years later married Mr. Cain, living at the South Kroeger street address since that time.

She leaves her husband; a son, Stanley Woodruff; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hare of Leimoe, Kings county; a sister, Mrs. Hazel Culler of Etiwanda; and a brother, Walter Hare, husband of one of the passengers in the car, of Rialto.

Lyon, also completing his fourth year on the board, will be succeeded by Harry D. Riley, of Anaheim, likewise elected in November to represent the third district during the next four years.

BRITAIN, JAPAN TO KEEP NAVY SHIPS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—(UP)—The state department today received formal notification by Great Britain and Japan that they had invoked the escalator clause of the London naval treaty providing for retention of additional naval tonnage.

The fact that the governments planned to keep additional tonnage had been known for some time and the action today merely made the decision formal.

Acting Secretary of State R. Walton Moore expressed gratification that the action was taken under the treaty which expires Thursday night.

He said it indicated the two nations recognized the treaty and were conforming to its provision.

KEN Murray SAYS:

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Cuba's cavalcade of presidents seems to be marching at double-time! Senor Gomez is now getting the gate for vetoing a sugar-tax bill. "X marks the spot" for those Cuban boys! They're either expelled, exiled or executed.

The people down there are such practical jokers. It seems like every time a new chief executive goes to sit down, somebody pulls the chair from under him.

Yes sir! It's reached the point in those Spanish republics where, if the government wants to do something for the unemployed, they put 'em to work raking up ex-presidents.

Oh well, with President Gomez having to give up his seat over Cuban sugar, and King Edward, his over an American honey, now we know what they mean by "Parting is such sweet sorrow."

OVER SAVING AND EFFECT ON DEPRESSION TO BE SUBJECT OF FORUM MEETING DEBATE

Can concentration of capital through over-saving, reduce purchasing power? That is the widely controversial question which will be debated tomorrow night at 8, in the junior college building, 917 North Main, as the Forum for Political and Economic Education holds its regular, weekly meeting.

Homer Chaney, director of the Federal Forum for Adult Education in Orange county, will speak on the affirmative and Lew Betts, rancher, on the negative, of the subject, "Resolved, That Over-saving as Represented by Concentrated Capital, Reduces Purchasing Power."

"This is a controversial subject which brings out a wide difference of opinion wherever discussed," W. H. (Ted) Blanding, chairman of the arrangements committee of the political-economic education forum, said today. "It is particularly controversial as to the bearing lack of purchasing power has on depressions and we should have a very instructive meeting."

Chaney has had 17 or 18 years of experience as a banker and, for two years, taught economics at Pomona College. He has studied widely in his field. Betts has read most of the world's masterpieces on the subject and has much practical business experience, giving him a clear viewpoint regarding the saving of capital and regarding purchasing power.

The public is invited, without cost, to attend the debate and to take part in the discussion during the general discussion period.

TEST CASE OF GAMES BEING PLANNED HERE

Pending possible court tests of the legality of pin-ball and other "games of skill," which have been in operation here, Police Chief Floyd W. Howard, supported by City Atty. Lew Blodgett, today announced that all such equipment in the city has been "shelved."

Action to stop the use of pin-ball machines, counter machines—such as "hold and draw" machines—followed a recent conference of police officials in Sacramento. The conference was called by U. S. Webb, state's attorney, who is the state's highest law enforcement official. He asked that the machines be abandoned.

According to the announcement issued by Chief Howard, District Atty. William Menton once ruled, in effect, that the machines in use in Santa Ana, did not entail gambling. However, because of Webb's expressed wish, all of the machines have been "locked up" or removed until such time as the court may decide officially and finally on the matter of their legality.

The chief said that even punch boards may be banned here in the future. The matter of using punch boards has been taken under advisement.

Reservoir O. K., But Lacks Water

HERNDON, Pa. (UP)—This town has a new reservoir, built by WPA but can't find water to fill it. A few springs have been piped to the reservoir, providing a rather skimpy supply for the borough. Officials fear, however, that the next drought will leave the district without water.

Several men have been employed to hunt for springs and to sink wells in search of a larger supply.

GERMAN GENERAL DIES
BERLIN, Dec. 28.—(UP)—Gen. Hans Von Seeckt, 70, credited with reorganizing the German army after the World War in such manner as to astonish foreign military experts, died yesterday at his apartment after a brief illness.

During the war he was chief of staff of the third army corps and served in other units. In 1920 he was made chief of the Reichswehr, restricted to 100,000 men. By his organizing genius, he made this army a marvel of efficiency, each man capable of commanding units in event of war.

The Palm Springs police said that the man was headed toward Mexico, the sheriff's office reported.

HEAVY RAIN IS RECORDED HERE

records may be broken before the next two days are passed. The prediction was that showers would be the order for tonight and Tuesday.

An informal survey of the city and district revealed that many highways had been covered with water and debris, but none was reported to be impassable. The road between El Modena and Orange was littered this morning after having been inundated during the heavy rain Sunday and Sunday night. Scores of residents of the city today were cleaning out basements, as were employees of many downtown business houses. Officials of the J. C. Penney company, 121 East Fourth street, were checking damage caused by a flooded basement and a leaking roof.

3.12 Inches in Orange
An intensely heavy rain of 3.12 inches was recorded by government weather officials at Orange, bringing the seasonal measurement there to 7.39 inches as compared to 1.83 for the corresponding period last year. The heaviest in the area, however, was at San Juan Capistrano, where the precipitation was 3.31 inches during the storm, but the seasonal rainfall was below that at Orange, standing at 6.06 inches.

Although the brunt of the storm that hit the Southern California coast was borne by Long Beach and San Pedro, Newport Beach and Balboa Island also were hard hit.

The large fishing barge Paramount, anchored three miles off shore, snapped its moorings and drifted seven miles to the mouth of the Santa Ana river, where it ripped out 200 feet of improvised pier before crashing on the rocks. A part of the barge crashed a pier at Huntington Beach, but failed to cause serious damage, reports said.

Pier Swept Away
Highest water in 21 years was reported at Balboa Island Sunday morning when a pier was swept away, and walks were torn up when a seven-foot tide, the highest of the season, swept over the seawall.

As the tide receded, the weight of the water impounded inside the wall burst the bulwark in several places and poured back into the ocean. The heavy concrete walk along the ocean front was Sunday morning a large pepper tree about 60 feet in height and about three feet through, standing in the parking at 394 South Orange street, Orange, was blown across the street. Many branches and limbs were torn from trees all over the city. Water in the Santiago dam measured 1375 acre feet this morning. On December 20 it measured 1069 acre feet, lowest since built. Rain at the dam for past 24 hours measured 2.62.

Coast Business Leader Succumbs

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 28.—(UP)—A. B. C. Dohrmann, 68, business and civic leader, owner and operator of department stores up and down the coast, died suddenly today at his home here.

Dr. Morton Gibbons Jr., attending physician, reported death presumably was due to a heart attack. Friends said Dohrmann was stricken with a cold last Wednesday and had been unable to come to his office since that time.

SEEK KIDNAPER OF TACOMA BOY

was not kidnapped from that home, however.

A corps of federal agents and Tacoma police, who at daybreak scoured underbrush in a deep gully below the Mattson home and running down to Commencement bay, part of Puget Sound, was unable to find any trace of the kidnaper.

Five extra telephone lines were strung into the Mattson home so any incoming call from the abductor would get through immediately and not receive a "busy" signal.

There was no indication, however, that any such call had been received at the home.

Gigantic Man Hunt
G-men, state, city and county police organized a gigantic man-hunt for the kidnaper.

A swarthy, dark-haired man, who broke the glass out of a back door with his gun reached in and unlatched the door, was sought.

Charles was with his brother, William Jr., 16, a sister, Muriel, 14, and a friend, Virginia Chatfield, 14, of Seattle.

Mr. and Mrs. Mattson were at the home of friends and had just telephoned to assure themselves the children were all right.

Not five minutes later, the kidnaper, intimidating the children with his gun, "snatched" Charles. The children tried to telephone their parents, but found the friends' line busy. William Jr., then called police.

Charles had just taken a bath and was dressed in knickers, a blue sports sweater and brown house slippers.

The weather was cold and misty, and fear was expressed for the boy's health because he was so lightly clad.

TOWNSEND CLUBS
Club No. 6 will meet Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the community hall of the First Christian church, Sixth street and Broadway. Election of officers will be the business of the evening.

Members of Club No. 12 will meet and dine at 6:30 p. m. Tuesday in the Santa Ana Gardens clubhouse, officials announced this morning. Women are requested to bring table service. Earl Lantz and his orchestra will furnish the music, and W. H. Paul, of Santa Ana, will be the principal speaker.

About 95,500 acres are contained in the agricultural estates belonging to the British crown.

WOODED BY PHONE

Being 3000 miles away from the object of his affections couldn't stop George Kamen, in London, from wooing Lorraine Princes, New York department store buyer. He devised the cable address "Lanoradore," dispatched a proposal daily and was accepted in a transatlantic phone finale. Courtship cost $650.

Carl Weaver, 15, Garden Grove, and Clarence B. Crosby, 54, Garden Grove, collided. According to information given California Highway Officer Ben Craig, Weaver's car ran into the rear of Crosby's.

Saturday night on Fairview between Adams avenue and Glaser road, two miles north of Costa Mesa, Ernest W. Danielson, 18, Costa Mesa, who was standing in the highway, attempting to flag down a truck operated by Ramon Munoz, 31, Costa Mesa, suffered injuries when Munoz said Danielson's hand struck the bed of the truck.

Truck Driver Jailed
L. Contreras, 48, Norwalk, was jailed on a drunk driving charge after his truck collided with a car driven by George Hughes, 27, El Monte, Saturday evening on 101 highway between La Mirada and Second street, 800 feet this side of the Los Angeles county-Orange county line. Ruth Hughes, 25, was injured.

An alleged hit-and-run driving case was being investigated today by city police, after a crash Saturday night. William Prentice, Huntington Beach, reported a car with license 9-X-5170 collided with his in Santa Ana. L. B. Nankier, Rouse L. Garden Grove, assertedly obtained the license number which was found to be registered to Walter Hara, Wilmington.

The body of the unidentified transient is at Divil's funeral chapel, San Clemente, pending identification and inquest.

POPE'S CONDITION HELD SATISFACTORY

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 28.—(UP)—Pope Pius passed "a really good night," a Vatican spokesman said today, although his slumber was somewhat disturbed by persisting neuritis pains and discomfort caused by varicose veins.

The pope heard mass in a room adjoining his bedroom at 7 a. m. and a half hour later received Prof. Amintore Milani, his physician. The doctor told household intimates that the pope's condition was "satisfactory."

Intimates said that when the neuritis pains were particularly strong, the pontiff intensified his prayers with his rosary. He never relaxes his grip on the beads day or night, they said.

DEATH NOTICES

A WORD OF COMFORT

Most of life's mysteries will remain unexplainable to the end of time; there is no easy or magical solution to them. Dealing to believe in God until you completely understand why things happen as they do will preclude your having a philosophy of life strong enough to sustain you through trial, perplexity and pain.
In the light of other men's experience, your only recourse is to postulate a God of Love who suffers with you although He seems not to interfere with what you have to undergo. Along with His companionship He gives you power to live courageously with the conviction that suffering is not wasted but will accomplish beneficent purpose within in you and for your fellows.

McKEON—December 27, 1936, in Santa Ana, William McKeon, age 68 years. Announcement of funeral later by Brown and Wagner.

SEEBECK—In Santa Ana, December 25, Mrs. Beatrice Sebeck, aged 63 years. She is survived by her husband, Henry Sebeck and two daughters, Mrs. Harry Sebeck, 1212 Orange Ave., at whose home she passed away; Mrs. Beatrice Sullivan, of Milwaukie, Mass., and one son, Sidney Smith of New York City. Services were held this afternoon at 2 p. m. from the chapel of the Winbigger Mortuary, 609 N. Main street, followed by interment in Fairhaven cemetery.

TWO DRIVERS PAY FINES IN POLICE COURT

Dannie A. Holzknecht, 26, of 1211 East Third, whose car crashed into a telephone pole Christmas night on North Main, was fined $15 by City Judge J. G. Mitchell, Saturday, for being intoxicated. No one witnessed Holzknecht's driving, police who made the arrest, said. When police or others witness drunk driving and are willing to sign a complaint, the usual fine is $150 in city court here.
Maurice Maturino, 53, 319 Adams street, Delhi, arrested last Thursday for allegedly being drunk in an automobile, was fined $15, found trying to get into John Muir school on East Fourth, and William McGinnis, Costa Mesa, booked at county jail on charges of being drunk and attempting a burglary, was sent to jail for 60 days. He pleaded guilty to vagrancy—consistent use of too much liquor—and the attempted burglary charge was dropped. Arrested by Officer Ralph Pantuso early Christmas morning at Fourth and Garfield, and charged with being drunk and disturbing the peace, Profit Ransom, Negro, 1214 West Second, was fined $15 after the disturbance charge was dropped.
K. Okl, Route 2, Santa Ana, was fined $2 for jumping a boulevard-stop and $5 for having no operator's license. Donald A. Parmler, Route 4, Box 157, Anaheim, paid $2 for jumping boulevard-stop. Donald Roberto, Route 3, Santa Ana, was fined $5 for speeding. All of those persons brought into city court Saturday pleaded guilty to the charges filed against them, records show.

SKIDMORE CASE IS DISMISSED BY HIGH COURT

The charge of disturbing the peace, brought against Joe Skidmore, of Laguna Beach, in the Laguna Beach justice court, has been dismissed by superior court, on Skidmore's appeal from the Laguna Beach court, where he was found guilty and given a suspended jail sentence.
Superior Judge James L. Allen's decision reversed the Laguna Beach court judgment, and ordered the case against Skidmore dismissed because the evidence was not sufficient to sustain the verdict of guilty.
The charge against Skidmore was filed last August 12, by Elmer Crawford, manager of the Coast Royal tract, when Skidmore went to Crawford's home to protest against alleged removal of benches and a table from the county park at Coast Royal, which had been donated to the county by Skidmore when he subdivided the Coast Royal tract, which he formerly owned. Skidmore's interests were foreclosed in 1929 by the organization represented by Crawford.
Skidmore demanded that the benches be replaced. In the ensuing argument, according to Crawford's complaint, Skidmore threatened him.
After hearing the testimony, Justice C. C. Cravath, of Laguna Beach, imposed the sentence of ten days upon Skidmore, but suspended it on condition that Skidmore and Crawford should not contact each other again.
Skidmore filed an appeal through Attorneys John Martell and Donald D. Harwood, of Santa Ana.

Groundhog Upsets Tradition, Dines

PITTSFIELD, Mass. (UP)—A groundhog shattered tradition recently by foraging for food.
A farmer, startled by the woodchuck's unseasonable appearance, trailed the animal to a turnip and cabbage patch. The groundhog dug through several inches of snow to some imperfect turnips still standing, ate generously and then hurried back to its lair.

TWO ARRESTED BY POLICE ON THEFT CHARGES

Followed by Detective Sergeant Hunter Leach, unknown to them as they assembled made the rounds of several local clothing stores, shop-lifting, Edward E. Givant, 25, and his wife, Dorothy Dyke Givant, 23, of 1515 South Ross street, were arrested Saturday evening and charged with burglary.

Caught with the goods, according to Assistant Chief Harry Pink and Detective Lieutenant Charles Wolford, who assisted Leach, the couple confessed, reports show. After a clerk in a local department store saw the couple in an attempt early Saturday, to take a pair of trousers—they were frightened away when other customers approached them—he called and warned police to be on the lookout. Later, officials of another store reported the couple had attempted to take some clothing there.

Spotting the couple, Officer Leach followed them to one store where they obtained costume jewelry, he said. Then he followed them to a second store where they allegedly picked up a toilet set; going to a third store, Givant asked for and obtained a piece of wrapping paper. Taking the toilet set and wrapping paper into a fourth store, the one from which the clerk had reported to police earlier in the day, Givant assertedly picked up a pair of trousers and wrapped it, with the toilet set, in the wrapping paper.

POOR CHILDREN OF CITY WILL ATTEND PARTY

One of the biggest Christmas parties in the history of the institution and the annual affair, will be presented at 7 p.m. today at Salvation Army headquarters on Sycamore street for all poor and needy children of Santa Ana and vicinity.

Capt. Lewis McAllan announced this morning that the chapel had been decorated for the occasion, and that a huge Christmas tree had been laden with hundreds of toys, candy, nuts and fruit.

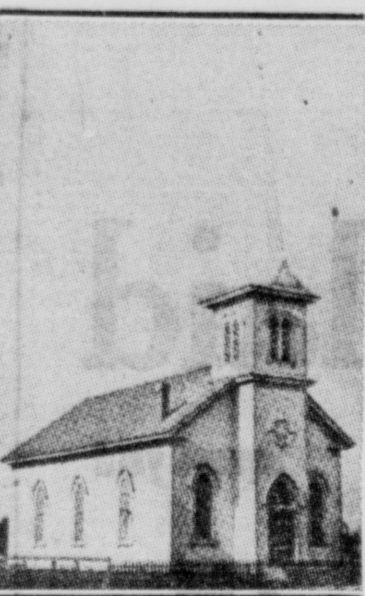

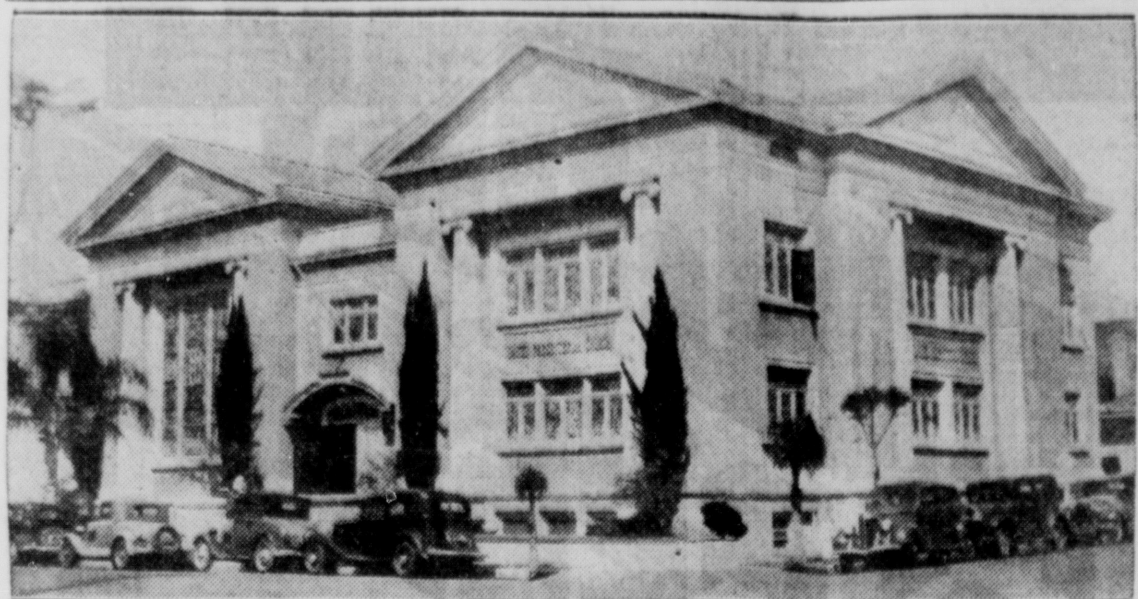

"There will be a Santa Claus to greet the children as they come to the party tonight," the Captain said, "and every child will receive a well-filled stocking. There will be a Christmas program, and an evening full of joy for all."

Reporting on the outcome of the campaign to raise $500 for distribution of "baskets of food to needy families, Capt. McAllan revealed that the amount raised was $489.35, only a few cents short of the goal, and that 414 baskets had been taken to homes in Santa Ana.

There were 73 men at the Christmas dinner that was served at the Army shelter on East Third street Christmas day. Most of these guests were elderly needy men of this city, Capt. McAllan said.

CELEBRATES SIXTIETH ANNIVERSARY

The congregation of the United Presbyterian church, oldest of that denomination in Southern California, yesterday observed the sixtieth anniversary of its founding in 1876. The present church building, shown at the top of the picture group below, was built in 1912, at Sixth and Bush streets. At the lower left is the first place of worship, built in 1878 at Fourth and Mortimer streets. Lower right: Dr. Albert Eakin Kelly, pastor of the church, and president of the Santa Ana Ministerial Union.

LOCAL CHURCH OBSERVES ITS 60TH BIRTHDAY

Old and young members of the United Presbyterian church of Santa Ana, some gathered from distant points, assembled yesterday in services observing the sixtieth anniversary of the church, oldest of the denomination in Southern California.

A sacramental service in the morning was followed by the anniversary services in the evening, when the pastor, Dr. Albert Eakin Kelly, preached on the subject, "The Past Speaks To Today and Tomorrow."

Col. S. H. Finley, banker and former county supervisor, who has been a member of the church for 50 years, delivered greetings to the congregation from the four who have passed a half-century in membership. The four are, including himself, Mrs. John McFadden, Joseph Thompson and Albert G. Finley.

Greetings of the Santa Ana Ministerial association, of which Dr. Kelly is president, were brought by Dr. O. Scott McFarland, minister of the First Presbyterian church. The local church was founded in 1876. Its first church building was erected in 1878 at Fourth and Mortimer; was replaced by a remodeled structure in 1897; and the present edifice at Sixth and Bush was erected in 1912.

She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Frank Farmer, at home, and one son, William Harrington Farmer, of Greeley, Col.

The body was taken to the Winbigger mortuary, where time for services will be announced Tuesday.

MRS. STELLA JOLLY DIES IN FULLERTON

FULLERTON, Dec. 28.—Mrs. Stella E. Jolly of 215 West Amerike, died at her home late Saturday after a prolonged illness.

Funeral services are arranged for Tuesday at 2 p.m. in the McAulay and Suters funeral chapel, with the Rev. Francis E. Hawes of the Baptist church of which she was a member officiating. Interment will be at the Loma Vista cemetery.

Besides her husband, Theron M. Jolly, surviving are two children, two sisters, and three brothers, Marguerite and Willis Jolly, a son and daughter at home, Mrs. Mamie Gage, Mrs. Edith VanWey, and John Clark of Fullerton, Walter Clark of Garden Grove and Stephen Jolly of San Diego.

The United States, principal outlet for North American production of the commodity, consumed 3,270,000 tons of newspaper in 1935; 3,680,000 tons in 1936.

FREE PIANO LESSONS ARE MADE POSSIBLE

Free piano lessons to those men and women in Orange county who could not otherwise take them, and free piano lessons to any child whose parents could not afford to pay for them are offered now by the recreation department of the WPA, Truscott Lindsey, director of the recreation project, said today.

Particular stress is placed upon the fact that men and women are as welcome to take piano courses as children, he pointed out. Santa Ana has three project piano teachers and three others are located in other parts of the county. Those who wish to sign up for the piano study are eligible for two hours of practice study under supervision of the teachers, it was pointed out.

NELSON EDDY TO SING HERE NEXT SATURDAY

Orange County ushers in its 1937 program of cultural activities with the concert by the distinguished opera and concert star, Nelson Eddy, at the Santa Ana High School Auditorium on Saturday evening, January 2. Mr. Eddy opens his 1937 concert season in Santa Ana under the management of the Behymer-Wilson Artists Series and the local sponsorship of the Musical Arts Club.

Achieving success in the fields of opera, concert, radio, and motion pictures, Nelson Eddy's meteoric rise in his profession has made his name a familiar one to music lovers throughout the nation. The quality of his rich baritone voice, his magnetic personality and the manner in which he handles powerful operatic roles as easily as the simple folk-songs which are dear to the layman as well as students of music, has endeared him to his audiences everywhere. Perfect balance of music selection is always assured in an Eddy program.

Tickets for Mr. Eddy's concert go on sale Monday (today) at the Santa Ana Book Store, 208 West Fourth Street, telephone 7-0, where season tickets for the entire five events of the Music Series, of which Mr. Eddy is the opening number, are now on sale. The other events in the course include Rose Hampton, Metropolitan mezzo-soprano, Homer Simmons, distinguished pianist, Alberto Salvi, internationally famous harpist and his quartet, and the Ted Shawn Dance group.

City police today were investigating a possible attempted burglary at the home of W.A. Butterfield, 1115 West Myrtle, yesterday afternoon. Mrs. C. W. Crumrine, 708 West Myrtle, daughter of the Butterfields, reported to police she had gone to visit her parents and found the door open.

Fourth between Spurgeon and French streets. Officer L. H. Nicholson watched the area but no attempts were made while he was present.

It wasn't a prowler near the Lister home, 335 South Garnsey, Saturday night, police learned upon investigation of Lister's call to police headquarters. A friend of a neighbor had come to the neighborhood on a visit and, when he found the neighbor absent, wrote them a note, placing it in the doorway.

Police News

Because Horace Munger, local man, charged with petty theft in connection with giving a $138 check which "bounced," to Wilson and Hill, electrical appliance dealers, here, was willing to compromise and "fix the matter up," the case against him was dismissed today by Justice Kenneth Morrison in Santa Ana justice court. The dismissal was with assent of the district attorney's office.

He was ticketed by city police for reckless driving and having no driver's license, records show.

Jimmy Fidler in HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 28.—Idol chatter: The only three "Motions" known (Davies, Talley, Nixon) have been astonishingly to youth and beauty. When do producers insist upon changing Tony Martin's catchy name to Anthony?

Peas from the same pod: Irene Dunne and Irene Rich ten years ago. It never seems proper when dainty Janet Gaynor ploughs through a steak smothered in onions. Smoothest name to say: Gloria Swanson, Chester Morris's only relief for chronic insomnia is to spend two consecutive nights without going to bed. When Barbara Stanwyck and Robert Taylor lunch together in a studio, each pays his own check. Doubles in personality: Mickey Mouse and Arline Judge, Alan Mowbray's children are named Alan and Patricia, and he calls them A. M. and P. M. because of their initials. Nice sentiment: Dolores Del Rio compresses one flower from each bouquet from her husband, and she has three books full. Dixie Lee Crosby is commencing to remind me of the Old Woman Who Lived in a Shoe. Scene stealer: Mischa Auer. Director Al Green has worn black bow ties (and no other kind) since the death of his mother, twenty years ago. Lionel is now universally recognized tops of the Barrymore clan. Youngest old man I know is character actor Brandon Hurst, who in his seventies plays golf in figures near his age. Bing Crosby is unbeatable at remembering names, but he cannot recall faces. William Powell seems more at home in dress clothes than any other actor. Hollywood calls Montana the "Treasure State"; Gary Cooper, Myrna Loy, and Jean Parker came from there.

No better illustration of the morbid curiosity of mankind could be produced than that which occurs at studios when death scenes are being filmed. When such sequences are being made, word spreads rapidly. Immediately all who can conjure up slight sketches go to those sets. As a rule they collect in dark corners of the stages, from where they watch proceedings as breathlessly as the greenest tourist. On a "death set" at one studio this week were five studio executives, three visiting directors, nine players from other troupes, and a countless number of lesser employees. All giving themselves a "horror treat."

Duck, folks; here comes another of those "nameless" stories. This young chap's head was swollen to pumpkin-size by flaring success. Yesterday noon he sat in a studio cafe, and from a nearby table a press agent called to him. The young actor did not answer, so the p. a. called again, and then a third time. At this point, another actor advised, "Forget it. He can't hear a thing because his ears have been firing near his ears all morning." "You mean," snapped the publicity man, "he can't hear since critics fired their raves about his picture!"

Outside of Hollywood and New York, few people know Harry Brand. Thousands in these two cities at least know of him. I do not question the oft repeated statement that he is the best liked man in the industry. He is director of publicity at a major studio. While he and I weighed feet on his desk last Saturday, a member of Harry's department appeared to ask, "Chief, how's about letting me off to go duck hunting?"

"Oh, sure," agreed Brand, "if you promise to bring me some ducks." "Gosh, Harry," said the would-be nimrod, "I'm not such a good shot. I might not get any." The Brand affability did not waver. "No duck," he quipped, "No job Monday." Copyright 1936 McNaught Synd., Inc.

GETS 6 MONTHS FOR BURGLARY

Benson Sheeley, 24, 840 Riverline street, Santa Ana, who admitted in Santa Ana justice court today that it was he who got so drunk Christmas eve at a local night club that "I went out to Cliff's service station, 1248 West First, and took 18 tires, oil, cigarettes and a slot machine, valued at $195," was sentenced by Judge Kenneth Morrison to six months in county jail, after a burglary charge had been reduced. Sheeley pleaded guilty to the petty theft. Three months of the sentence was suspended and Sheeley will be placed on three years probation after he serves three months of the sentence. He must not take a drink during the three-year period. The judge informed Sheeley that he was "lucky" he didn't lose his citizenship by being prosecuted and convicted of a felony. Sheeley, after finding the service station property at his home the following morning, walked into police station and gave the property back to the owner. "I don't remember anything about getting it," he said. Another provision of Sheeley's sentence is that he must pay damages to the service station and pay for the slot machine, which could not be found. Sheeley broke windows at the service station to gain entrance.

UNIDENTIFIED MAN IS NOT VICTIM OF DROWNING, SHOWN

The unidentified man, whose body was found floating in tidewater at the swampy mouth of San Juan creek, near Dana Point, Saturday, was not a drowning victim, according to an autopsy report from Dr. Elizabeth Tock, who is now acting as autopsy surgeon in the absence of Dr. John Montanus, regular autopsy surgeon.

No water was found in the man's lungs, it was reported. Whether any marks of violence were found upon the body, Dr. Tock refused to state. Coroner Earl Abbey will continue his investigation to determine whether or not the man may be a murder victim.

The man is described as about 45 or 50 years old, weighing 145 pounds and about five feet six inches tall. The man still had on his white-gold spectacles, when he was discovered, according to Deputy Sheriff Bob Steinberger and James Musick. A yellow gold Burlington watch, bearing the initials, "P.A.A.", was found on the body.

CLAIM 16 WELLS TAPPING TIDELANDS

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 28.—(UP)—A committee of experts, testifying before a state senate investigating committee, reported today that 16 wells in the Huntington Beach field are tapping oil from state-owned tidelands by slant drilling. Dr. E. K. Soper, professor of geology at the University of California at Los Angeles and chairman of the special committee of experts who examined drilling records of the Standard Oil company, said the company had six wells which it admitted were slant-drilled. In addition, according to Soper, five others apparently were "trespassing" on the state pool. Five wells were likewise sunk by other companies, making a total of 16 which are extracting state-owned oil, the witness reported. They were the Sunset Oil company, the Texas company and the Wilshire Oil company which owns three wells.

HOLD FUNERAL OF ARTHUR BRISBANE

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—(UP)—Simple funeral services were held in St. Bartholomew's church today for Arthur Brisbane, veteran editor, who died Christmas morning at 72.

The body was taken to the church under escort of motorcycle police. An honor guard of 100 men, mounted and on foot, was posted at the entrance. Honorary pallbearers included: Vice President John N. Garner, William Green, Governor Herbert H. Lehman, Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia, William Randolph Hearst, Winthrop W. Aldrich, Julius Ochs Adler, Bernard M. Baruch, Senators W. Warren Barbour, Arthur Capner and A. Harry Moore, Paul Block, Roy W. Howard, George L. Berry, Walter P. Chrysler, Albert D. Lasker, Joseph M. Patterson, John D. Rockefeller Jr., Charles M. Schwab, Alfred P. Sloan Jr., Capt. Edward V. Rickenbacker, Arthur Hays Sulzberger, Gerald Swope, Myron C. Taylor, and Nicholas M. Schenck.

Printing did not originate in Germany, but in China. The Chinese printed books many hundreds of years before Gutenberg invented movable type in 1460.

Historic Trees To Get New Aid

WOODSTOCK, Conn. (UP)—Townpeople and descendants of Gen. Samuel McClellan have joined forces to save the three famous elm trees planted by the Revolutionary soldier's wife 160 years ago to mark his departure to the war against England.

One of the trees was found to be slowly rotting, but could be preserved by expert treatment. The others were healthy.

TRADE AGREES TO CUT CREDIT FOR LUG BOXES

Effective January 1, produce dealers in the Los Angeles area will no longer allow a credit for lug boxes, according to word received by County Agricultural Commissioner D. W. Tubbs from Homer A. Harris, Secretary-Manager of the Associated Produce Dealers of Los Angeles.

Harris said: "The trade has agreed that on and after January 1, 1937 no charge will be made on lug boxes and no allowance will be made to the grower or shipper for lug boxes. This rule has been in effect on apple boxes for the past 15 years and has been extended to lug boxes only after careful consideration of all factors involved."

Charges Abandoned
"Twenty-five years ago a charge was made on practically every container used in shipping fruits and vegetables in the state, including shipments to eastern markets. For many years, however, there has been a gradual abandonment of these charges, first to eastern markets and then within this state. For example the shippers of fruit from the Sacramento Valley have not charged for lug boxes for nearly 10 years and such districts as the Imperial Valley, Salinas and Guadalupe make no charge for lettuce crates. Consequently the custom of returning or paying for shipping containers has for the last four or five years been narrowed down to three or four southern counties in the neighborhood of Los Angeles."

Losses Suffered
"For several years the Los Angeles trade has made a practice of charging three cents per lug and five cents per crate where the product was loose packed and unlidded, but have been including the container free where packed and lidded. The trade has suffered steady losses on the handling of these containers by reason of the fact that at those times of the year when second hand lugs are worth more than three cents the retailers do not return them to the market for credit but sell them outside. In the off seasons when the lug boxes are worth less than three cents the retailers have been bringing in as many lugs as possible for credit at three cents each. At all times of the year the lugs returned have been the lowest grade to be found as the better boxes are sold and not returned for credit."

Additional Hardship
"The California law regarding the obliteration of brands and trade marks, has worked an additional hardship on the trade since second hand containers continued to come in from growers and shippers almost without exception with old brands and trade marks which had to be obliterated by the wholesaler before the merchandise could be legally sold. A number of the trade were taken into court and fines imposed, although it is obvious that prior to his unlawful use of such containers someone violated the law in selling this container to the shipper, and the shipper violated the law in boxing without first oblittering old marks. In other words, the brunt of the enforcement of this law has fallen on the local trade, still further aggravating this situation."

No Effect On Crates
"Accordingly at a meeting of this association several weeks ago it was unanimously decided that on and after January 1, 1937 lug boxes would be devalued by making no charge to buyers and making no return or allowance to shippers. This action applies only to lug boxes and does not affect crates or other containers, as they have not yet become burdensome or expensive to handle. We do not expect that this action will eliminate the use of second hand containers nor do we believe that it will place any burden on those producers who want to continue to use second hand containers. Our experience with the devaluation of apple boxes some eight years ago was that second hand shoox yards gathered them up, sorted them as to quality and resold them all the way from one and one-half to two and one-half cents each. "We believe that second hand lugs will go through the same channels and be sorted and the old marks obliterated by second hand shoox yards and legal second hand containers be available to those wishing to use them at about the same figure. During the past season second hand lug boxes have been selling from five to seven cents, largely due to the arbitrary three cents initial value placed on them in the local markets. We believe that this method of handling second hand lugs through the shoox yards will simplify the enforcement of the law regarding old markings and relieve the grower, shipper and retailer alike from prosecution and fine."

Spelling Critics Embarrass Artist
TROY, N. Y. (UP)—George M. Gray's face turned red when a newspaperman called his attention to omission of one "i" in the word "appellation" under the panel of a military mural in a Troy hotel. Gray painted the mural on the wall and summoned newspapermen and photographers to view his work. "Naturally, I'm going to paint in the other 'i,'" Gray stammered.

THE ROVING CAMERAMAN

By John Neubauer

This is the first of a series of minute interviews by the Register's Roving Cameraman. In each of these columns interesting and timely topics will form the basis for the minute interviews. These subjects may be both of a local or universal nature.

While this series will not attempt to give a cross section of public opinion, in most instances the trend of what Orange county folks say and believe will be presented.

This series is about folks you know. Your friends, neighbors and possibly you yourself will contribute to this column.

THE QUESTION
Do you believe in New Year's Resolutions?

THE PLACE
Center and Los Angeles streets, Anaheim

THE ANSWERS
HELYN E. COFFMAN, North Clementine Ave., secretary

No, I don't believe in New Year's resolutions because I never make them. In most instances those who resolve to do certain things in the New Year never do, but break their good resolutions and go back to their regular mode of life. In such a case their good intentions are useless.

PETER J. LEHR, N. Lemon street, service station operator

Yes, if a person would be able to keep his good resolutions. It is nice to check up on one's self every now and then in an effort to improve oneself. Personally, I never make New Year's resolutions, but I let my conscience be my guide and I try to check up on myself from day to day.

MILDRED M. LOUDON, North Clementine Ave., bookkeeper

No, I don't believe in making New Year's resolutions, mainly because they are too difficult to keep. If I made them, it would only be a matter of time before I would break them. If I broke one, I'd break them all. Generally, resolutions are a check and consequently difficult to keep.

GRANT RUDE, So. Claudine street, police sergeant

Yes, I think New Year's resolutions are all right if one can abide by them. It is certainly a good way to start off a new year right, even if all of one's good intentions are ultimately broken. A person can get a good check on himself by making resolutions. That is the main reason why I believe in them.

Christian Science

"Christian Science" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon on Sunday in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts. The Golden Text was from II John: "He that abideth in the doctrine of Christ, he hath both the Father and the Son."

The Lesson-Sermon included these words of Christ Jesus, from Luke: "And as ye would that men should do to you, do ye also to them likewise. For if ye love them which love you, what thank have ye? for sinners also love those that love them. But love ye your enemies, and do good, and lend, hoping for nothing again; and your reward shall be great, and ye shall be the children of the Highest: for he is kind unto the unthankful and to the evil. Be ye therefore merciful, as your Father also is merciful."

Among the correlative passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, were the statements, "The vital part, the heart and soul of Christian Science, is Love." "What we most need is the prayer of fervent desire for growth in grace, expressed in patience, meekness, love, and good deeds."

YULETIDE SEAL SALE RETURNS HIT $6274.52

"Christmas is gone but the spirit of unselfish love for their fellow-men still lives, as is proved by the steady stream of letters containing money for Christmas seals which is pouring into the office of the Orange County Tuberculosis and Health association, at 112 West Fifth street, Santa Ana."

This statement was made today by Mrs. Edna Hewitt Smith, executive secretary of the association, in a report of the progress of the thirtieth annual Christmas seal sale for the support of the educational and clinic work it carries on in Orange county.

She reported that $6274.52 toward a goal of $10,000 has been received to date. The association is still hopeful of reaching its goal which is more than ever needed this year as there are still 11,575 letters still not heard from. The checks or cash are just as acceptable, or more so, than earlier in the month. Many persons have indicated they wished to wait until after Christmas to send in their money, so this is being counted on to make up the shortage.

"Let us not leave anything undone that will help to prevent deaths from tuberculosis, the chief cause of death to young adults," Mrs. Smith said.

PET TALKS

By MRS. T. J. NEAL

Cairn Terriers have found distinguished admirers and backers on both sides of the Atlantic. In Scotland the Cairn are looked upon as sort of a ragamuffin terrier—a dog useful for getting fox or other animals whose retreats are within the crevices of the rocklands. The Cairn is the smallest of all of Scotland's terriers and wonderful little pets.

"Pure-bred is the correct term when referring to dogs; 'thorough-bred' is used when speaking of horses."

Never let the coat of a sick cat become dirty or smeared. It worries the cat. If he is too weak to give himself a bath, clean the coat with damp absorbent cotton and keep the eyes clean.

One of the first dogs to cross the continent in an airplane was a Japanese Spaniel, shipped from San Francisco to New York in 1935. With a nice warm sweater he started his long journey. When he arrived late at night he was given a reception that was equal to any afforded a person of note.

L. W. BLODGET, THOS. H. KUCHEL, OPEN OFFICES

The announcement of the formation of a new firm of attorneys in Orange county was made today. Law Blodget, city attorney of Santa Ana, and Thomas H. Kuchel, assemblyman-elect from northern Orange county, announced their association in the practice of law, with offices being maintained both in Santa Ana and in Anaheim. The new firm will engage in general practice, and its two offices make it accessible to the entire county.

Blodget has long been prominent in legal circles of the county. From 1919 to 1932, he was city attorney of Huntington Beach. During that period, he brought suit against one of the state's major oil companies, and obtained for public use, approximately one mile of ocean front and beach property, valued at a quarter of a million dollars.

Blodget has been a resident of Santa Ana since 1930, and was elected city attorney there in 1935. For several years, he was a member of the district attorney's staff of Orange county, and as such handled the prosecution of the celebrated Philip A. Goodwin murder case in the local superior courts. Kuchel is a member of a prominent Orange county family which settled in Anaheim early three-quarters of a century ago. Since his admission to the bar in 1935, he has practiced law in Anaheim. Last November, he was elected to the state assembly, and will leave in January for the first session of the legislature which will convene in Sacramento Jan. 4.

The Santa Ana offices of the new firm are located at 308 First National Bank bldg., in that city, and will be in charge of Mr. Blodget. The Anaheim offices are located at 410 Bank of America bldg., Anaheim, and will be in charge of Mr. Kuchel.

Romance Knocks; Then Engagement

TROY, N. Y. (UP)—Opportunity usually knocks at the door—this time, however, it was romance. It happened two years ago—

State Trooper Everett T. Marchant was on a case in upstate New York and had to reach a telephone in a hurry. The nearest house was in the town of Randall, Montgomery county, he learned. He knocked at the door.

Miss Betty G. Campbell answered and permitted him the use of the telephone. Now Miss Campbell's parents have announced the engagement of their daughter to Trooper Marchant.

When Sigma chapter, Beta Sigma Phi sorority members and guests assembled for an annual open house affair Friday night in the Anaheim home of Mrs. John Cook, they were surprised to learn that the occasion served to announce the engagement of Miss Mildred ("Toots") Staples and Robert D. Windolph.

Party Serves To Tell News Of Betrothal

There was an unusual amount of romance connected with the holiday observance in this community, and prominent among the parties which hinted at future wedding bells, was that at which Miss Ada Schumacher of Orange entertained during the past week, announcing her engagement to Robert Scharer, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Scharer, 2420 North Park boulevard.

It was to the members of her bridge club that Miss Schumacher revealed this pleasant news, when she was hostess at the Christmas party of the club in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Schumacher, 1504 East Chapman avenue.

In advance of the evening's bridge play, the guests were seated at a Christmas tree-centered table for the enjoyment of a holiday salad course followed by a dessert course in Christmas colors and design. Mrs. Schumacher assisted her daughter in serving. With the dessert course were gay pop-pop-poppings, which continued with the message, "Bob and Ada, 1937." No definite wedding date was disclosed.

In the bridge play which followed, prizes for high and low scores were awarded Miss Ellen Peters and Miss Loraine Beach. Other guests present with the hostess, Miss Schumacher, were the Misses Lydia Mueller, Esther Pitschen, Gertrude Amling, Selma Labahn and Mrs. Robert Anderson (Luella Quandt).

RETURNING AND EXCHANGES

"Don't you feel sorry for the store clerks this week, Fanny?"
"Sure do. It would be swell for them if the only things exchanged were Christmas greetings."

Carnival Spirit Reigns Over Panhellenic Dance

It was the night after Christmas when all good children were in dreamland that toy soldiers in vivid attire were lined up in the ballroom of Orange Woman's clubhouse all in readiness for the gala dance which Panhellenic society staged Saturday night. One hundred and twenty-five couples took part in the affair, which came as the society's annual benefit for junior college student loan fund.

Arrivals at the clubhouse stepped from the cold December night air into a veritable toylord where Yuletide hospitality gleamed from every corner. The blazing logs in the foyer fireplace; the warmth of greeting extended by Panhellenic society president, Mrs. Warren Fletcher; the cheery "Hellos" from old time friends—all contributed to the holiday background.

It was a most orderly toylord into which the ballroom had been transformed. The military figures led up to piles of huge blocks which remained in pyramid formation throughout the evening. Great clusters of balloons swayed from chandeliers and window ledges, adding their cheery colors to the festive scene until a late hour. At that time it took just one pop-pop-popping, which continued until there were no more balloons.

All details seemed expressive of one of the merriest Christmases ever. The two tall trees which graced the ballroom shied many gayly bedecked packages which never were unwrapped. A group of merry-makers added to the orchestra's rendition of "Jingle Bells" by joining in on the chorus—and holiday festivities continued on through the midnight hour.

Committees

Miss Ruth Bradley, general chairman of the successful affair, had made her black velvet gown with brilliant clips. Mrs. Fletcher, who aided in all arrangements for the affair, wore a pretty frock of a magenta and rose blend. Mrs. Harry Le Bard, decorations chairman, was in flesh-toned chiffon. Assisting her in working out the toylord theme were Mrs. H. L. Manker, Mrs. Victor Hupp, Mrs. Floyd Croddy and Mrs. George Spielmann.

Lacey Swaine's orchestra which provided the music, had been engaged for the occasion by Mrs. Robert Low, who was gowned in a henna crepe novelty weave gown. Mrs. R. C. Harris, whose responsibility was selecting patrons and patronesses, wore a black frock with a corsage cluster of orchids.

Miss Anna Tynthall delegated the serving of punch to the Misses Henrietta Campbell and Henrietta Rurup, junior college students. Ethel hostesses spare no thought in making the party of striking charm in every detail. Good music is always a feature, so the latest dance steps may be accomplished to up-to-the-minute dance rhythms. Decorations always seem to achieve a note of originality and the whole atmosphere of the clubhouse is one of holiday hospitality.

Usually there are many guests, for Ethel sons and daughters are privileged to take house-guests who have perhaps accompanied them home from college. There is just one rule prevailing, and that is that tickets must be secured through the hostess group. That group this year, comprises Mrs. Emery White, Mrs. R. C. Holmes and Mrs. Fred C. Rowland, president of the hostess society. Mrs. Holmes is serving as party chairman this year, and has on her committee, Mrs. F. E. Farnsworth, Mrs. J. L. Clark and Mrs. Ralph Smiley. Other board members who are dance hostesses, are with the president, Mrs. Rowland, Mesdames Charles Carothers, Lloyd Chenoweth, Rex Kennedy, C. E. Bressler, Dexter Ball, W. S. Thompson, Miss Mabel McFadden, Mesdames Herbert L. Miller, William Maag and Wilbur Barr.

Patrons and patronesses will be Mayor and Mrs. Rowland, Major and Mrs. M. Burr Wellington, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Miller and Mr. and Mrs. Rex Kennedy.

HERSHEY FAMILY

Mr. and Mrs. S. K. Hershey received a family group in their home, 214 West Orange road, Christmas day. Red tapers rose from pine cone holders, and a mirrored tree provided a table centerpiece. Guests of the Hersheys and their daughter, Miss Nellie Hershey, were Mrs. Christina Mathews, Donald Mathews, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Mathews, Miss Ann Monroe, Ingleswood; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hershey, San Diego; O. W. Gurneson, Greeley, Colo. The B. A. Hersheys, 2014 South Parton street, were hosts at a Christmas Eve party in their home. Mr. and Mrs. S. K. Hershey, Miss Nellie Hershey and Mr. Gurneson completed the group sharing a gift exchange and a buffet supper.

WILSONS ARE HOSTS

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Wilson, 923 North Olive street, entertained a little group of guests at dinner Christmas day. In the party with the hosts were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Solomon and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Mitchell of this city, with Miss Gertrude Gates of Maywood.

After the Dance

Miss Tedford Reveals Date For Nuptials

While Christmas bells were chiming Friday in the home of Mrs. E. G. Huntington, 907 South Main street, guests who listened very closely, heard with them, the faint music of wedding bells to ring in the not too distant future.

For Miss Dora Tedford, charming blonde granddaughter of the hostess, and the daughter of Mrs. T. F. Tedford, took this family reunion as a happy time to reveal the date of February 21 which she and her fiancé, Raymond Todd, have selected for their wedding. Their betrothal was announced in mid-August.

Mrs. Huntington was dinner hostess to her children—and to her children's children—even to the fourth generation. All received a loving welcome to the home, with its wreathed cotton-aster and its masses of flaming poinsettias. Dinner was served to the accompaniment of similar lovely poinsettia clusters and scarlet tapers, and at each place was a tiny scarlet candlestick to whose slim taper was tied a tiny scroll imparting the wedding news.

Places were indicated for Mrs. Huntington, Mrs. Tedford, the Misses Edith and Dora Tedford, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Jackson of Fullerton, and sons, Leland and Donald Jackson; Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Horan and son Richard; Mr. and Mrs. Lester W. Slabach and sons, Stanley, Leell, Stanley and Leila; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond R. Ross and son and daughter, Raymond Jr. and Virginia; Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Gerken and son Jimmie; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Huntington of Chino with their aunt, Mrs. Mamie Vesey; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Huntington of Hollywood and their little daughter Dianne, and L. M. Huntington of San Gabriel. O. this group, Richard Horan and Dianne Huntington are great-grandchildren of the hostess.

The afternoon brought the additional pleasure of the family gift exchange, but it brought also a delightful surprise for Miss Dora Tedford, the February bride-elect. For her relatives had planned a Christmas shower for her, so to her generous assortment of miscellaneous gifts, was added a collection of lovely things for her future home.

OUT OF STATE GUESTS

Relatives from the east and from Southland points joined Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Anderson and son, Wilbur Lee, in a Christmas day celebration in their home, 627 South Sycamore street. In the group were Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Falkenberg and son, Curtis of Chicago, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Anderson and children, Norma and Bobbie of Yankton, S. D.; Herman Kressin, Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Kressin and children, Shirley and Darlene, Riverside; Mr. and Mrs. R. Church Is At Its Loveliest For Yuletide Wedding Rites

Few weddings in Santa Ana have attracted more general interest than that of Saturday evening, December 26, at which Miss Betty Rowland, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Elliott Husted Rowland, 2418 Fairmont avenue, exchanged vows with Terry Elmo Stephenson Jr., son of County Treasurer Terry E. Stephenson and Mrs. Stephenson, 1522 North Broadway.

Episcopal Church of the Messiah, where the Stephenson family has worshipped for so many years, appeared in its most beautiful holiday setting for the event. And there, the rector, the Rev. W. J. Platter, assisted the Rev. Perry Frederick Schrock, pastor of First Congregational church where the Rowland family worships, in conducting rites that were beautifully impressive.

Musical Interval
In advance of the 8 o'clock ceremony, Alan A. Revell at the console, gave a half hour's organ recital to which tenor solos by Lyle Anderson added beauty. His songs were "I Love You Truly" and "O Promise Me." The strains of the DeKoven number were modulated by the organist into the stirring rhythms of the Wagnerian Wedding March.

As the officiating ministers entered from the vestry, followed by Mr. Stephenson and his best man, J. Wylie Carlyle, the ushers, Dr. G. Stanley Norton, Clarence Sprague, Robert Northcross Jr. and Robert Chapman, led the bridal march from the church entrance. They were followed by Miss Rowland's bridesmaids, the Misses Alyce Majors and Genevieve Glover, her matron of honor, Mrs. Wade Cargile (Jean Rowland), and then by the bride herself on the arm of her father, Dr. Rowland.

These winter months have seen a procession of lovely brides in this city, but none lovelier than Betty Rowland. The classic purity of her profile was framed in the delicate lace halo of her floating tulle veil, caught with orange blossoms and pearls. Her gown of ivory velvet draped as beautifully as chiffon and molded gracefully to her slim figure, to sweep in a long train beneath the airy tulle of her veil. She wore pearls, and as the "something old, borrowed and blue," the quantity of heavy gold chain with its turquoise-studded cross which is an heirloom in the family of Mrs. Robert Northcross and has a romantic history which makes it a favorite of family friends for their bridal attire. Even the "lucky slipper in her shoe" was not forgotten, Robert Northcross Jr. providing this coin so dear to bridal tradition. For her flowers, she carried white roses with silver wrapped stems, centered with orchids which she later donned for her trip, after presenting the roses to her mother.

Mrs. Cargile as honor matron, reversed the position of two brief months ago when as a bride, she was assisted by Saturday night's bride as maid of honor. Her gracefully ruffled and corded gown of tulle taffeta was worn with a self-colored material halo hat whose crown was a beaded Juliet cap. The sweet peas of her lace-trimmed colonial bouquet were arranged in prim rows centered with perfect pink roses the exact tint of her costume. Miss Majors in gold taffeta and Miss Glover in soft blue, carried deep pink sweet peas, wired in fountain spray clusters. Their gowns were identical in mode, extremely long and full as to skirt, with semi-fitted bodices, puffed sleeves and small roll collars caught with pearl clips. Their hats were in the same halo effect as that of the honor matron, but with self-colored tulle crowns.

This bridal party was of definite interest, for the bride's attendants were her sorority sisters in Sigma Tau Psi, while Mr. Stephenson's attendants were those with whom he has grown from childhood days. He Baumgartner for so many years.

STORIES IN STAMPS

By I. S. Klein

WHEN the Children of Israel left Egypt, under the guidance of Moses, they passed through a valley between purple rock mountains from which, it is said, their great leader brought water, by the might of his staff.

Here the Nabateans, a pre-Islamic Arab nation, arose, about the fourth century, B. C., fought the advance of mighty Rome, and left their imprints in beautiful pottery and remarkable carvings.

Here, in the city that was Petra, and that now is Wadi Musa, "The Valley of Moses," archeologists have dug up relics of Biblical and historic importance. They discovered a Khazna, or Treasury, carved out of the mountainside, several tombs, and other ruins. Many other locations about here have revealed remains not only of ancient Hebrew and Islamic culture, but of the later Greek and Roman civilizations.

Transjordan, former territory of Turkey, became a World War mandate of Great Britain and began issuing stamps in 1920. A series of 1930 includes a stamp picturing the Khazna at Petra.

NEWS FROM ORANGE COUNTY COMMUNITIES

ANNOUNCE LIGHTING AWARDS

COSTA MESA, Dec. 28.—Winners of high awards in the Orange County Christmas Lighting program, according to a report of the judges on Saturday night were as follows: the city of Huntington Beach, class A, the best illuminated and decorated community; San Clemente, class B, presenting the best shrine by a community; the Thelma organization of Laguna Beach, class C, the best organization; the Standard Oil company of Huntington Beach, class D, the best service station owned by the oil company; E. W. Bristol of Huntington Beach, class E, the best privately owned service station; the F. Mustard grocery and Claude Pullen's nursery at Corona Del Mar, class F, the best illuminated and decorated business place; James L. Rubel of Lido Isle, class G, the best illuminated and decorated home; George Higgins of San Clemente, class H, the best Christmas display outside by a private party; and William C. Wade of Laguna Beach, class I, the best Christmas tree among the inside displays by private parties.

All displays were judged on effectiveness, lighting, decoration, design and setting. It was stated by the judges, and this year's showing was the best that has been made since the program was started several years ago. The exhibition is already becoming nationally known and it is believed by the sponsors, the judges and others that "The Forty Miles of Christmas Smiles," the slogan under which the program is publicized, will become world famous.

The judges who traversed the Orange County coastline to observe the decorations and illumination expressed their wonder and commendation especially for the shrines. The one at San Clemente, the winner of first honors, was especially outstanding, it was stated, as the shrine itself, a beautifully decorated and lighted church scene, was supplemented with a Christmas worship program during the evening that it was showing, including the singing of Christmas carols, the presentation of short acts complimenting the season and many readings. The judges will recommend to the sponsors of the program, the Orange County Coast Association, that they stress the display of more shrines next year.

The Doheny Park clubhouse made an inside display that was especially striking, the judges stated, but it could not be judged in any class that was called for in the program.

Others mentioned as winners of second and third places and honorable mention are as follows: class A, honorable mention, Laguna Beach, class C, honorable mention, the Costa Mesa Fire department and the Newport Beach library; class D, honorable mention, the Richfield Service station at Laguna Beach; class F, second, Three Arch Bay Realty company; third, the Mission Drug company at San Juan Capistrano; and honorable mention, the Chris Craft company at Newport Beach and W. L. Noonan of Costa Mesa; class G, second, Dr. Paul Esslinger of San Juan Capistrano, and honorable mention, Harry Hyde of Newport Beach, David Prenter of Dana Point, and Dr. C. G. Huston of Costa Mesa; class H, second, L. W. Patterson of Laguna Beach, and honorable mention, M. H. Forster of San Juan; class I, second, Murphy of Huntington Beach and W. F. Kennedy of Seal Beach; class J, second, A. H. Dixon of Huntington Beach, and honorable mention, Paul Bowen of Huntington Beach, Mrs. Ida Naylor of Balboa Island, Stanley Cribb of Arch Bay and Andrew Claude of Laguna Beach.

Judges were Corb Sarchet of Brea, Frank Rospaw of Placentia, Vernon King of Dana Point, and Charles M. Vernon of Yorba Linda. Dr. C. G. Huston, chairman of the Christmas Lighting committee of the Orange County Coast Association, was in charge of arrangements.

Club Holds Yule Party

SEAL BEACH, Dec. 28.—Christmas festivities dominated the final December meeting of the Seal Beach Women's Club, held in the Civic auditorium here last Wednesday, with 60 members and guests gathered at four gaily decorated tables for a pot-luck luncheon, preceding a Christmas program presented by the children, and an exchange of gifts.

Centered by a miniature Christmas tree, each table was decorated with evergreen and holly, with three tables arranged for the adults and one for the children. Arrangement for the party was in charge of members of the executive board, including Mrs. Anna Collier, Mrs. E. W. Reed, Mrs. Grace M. Haskell, and Mrs. Walker Snider.

Competition in the attendance contest, which will end with the next meeting when the winners will be determined, narrowed to a two-point lead for the team headed by Mrs. Homer Sisk. Winners of the contest will be served a dinner in January, according to Mrs. Walker Snider, publicity chairman.

Children who assisted in presenting the program were Marjorie Shepard, who read an original poem by Mrs. David Collier, Jean McLaugh, Frank Upham, Imogen Christian, Ruth Upham, Joan Lewis, and Virginia Shepard.

Feast Of Reason, Flow Of Soul Is Halted As "Amen Corner" Closes

By WILLIAM F. KAY

LAGUNA BEACH, Dec. 28.—A long-established institution in Laguna Beach, the far-famed "Amen Corner," is no more, and commiseration ranging from levity to dark-muttered growls is prevalent. Located in a picturesque, shabby structure at the junction of Forest Avenue and Coast Boulevard, a bay-windowed alcove has long been the meeting place for the 4 o'clock coffee club, to which used to forage artists, writers, sculptors, world-travelers and others, the like of which undoubtedly used to infuse the Marmalade Tavern in Ben Jonson's day, and the Cheshire Cheese in Doctor Johnson's day. On the walls of the alcove hang pictures, which have attracted the attention of countless thousands of visitors who patronize the place where the Amen Corner was. But it's all over now, men; and here's the why of it:

From four to five of afternoons, a valiant crowd of coffee-guzzlers would meet, and bat the conversational ball around, disagree with gusto, savor failure—and not a little aplomb. Their conversation was vivid, electrically charged, full of the tang of life. For the speakers had been places, done things, were untidy of thought, fluid of expression, and unreluctant to say what they had in mind. Presided over by jovial Frank Cuprien, world-famous artist, musician, bon vivant, and beloved-plus, the daily meetings were a joy and a boon, to those whose wits were still ungratulated.

But progress marched on, and following in the wake of enhanced demand for quarters, the boys were informed that their room was preferable to their company. Details are lacking; but Major Henry J. Schroeder, whose regular army decorations are really something; Lieutenant-Comm. A. M. Baldwin; Capt. Don Wilkie, criminologist and radio-broadcaster; Len Hardie, reformed shipbuilder; Edwin Wilson, journalist de luxe; and editor-at-large; to say nothing of many others: "All, all, are gone, the old familiar faces."

Though gone, they will not be forgotten; for, some dispute arising as to ownership of the score or more of photographic depictions of Amen-Corner-ites which festoon the walls of the alcove, the owner of the place has decided, for the nonce, to retain them, possession being ten points of the law.

Reorganization proceeds apace; the evicted ones are moving temporarily elsewhere, and have dubbed themselves "The Untouchables." And outside the vacated "Amen Corner," a replica cigar-store Indian, veiled, pro tem "Chief Elmer Wood" broods darkly over the situation.

The first play, "That Blessed Night," was given by a group of primary and junior girls. An exercise, "The Message of the Bells," was presented by Junior girls, and a playlet, "Secret Time," was given by fourth grade girls. Another exercise, "Led by the Star," was presented by sixth and seventh grade girls; and a short play, "St. Nick," was given by fifth and sixth grade boys. A playlet, "In Storie Bethlehem," was presented by a group of eighth grade and high school boys and girls.

Readings were given by Donald Worden, "The Reason Why;" Mike Healey, "My Wish for You;" Buddy Baird, "Christmas;" Myrna Whitney, "Three Gifts;" Leah Opp, "The Christmas Star;" Virgil Pinkley, "Just Like a Man;" and Rosalie Cleveland, "The First Christmas." The pantomime was a presentation of the Nativity scene.

A sextette of young women, Doris McMurtry, Wanda Thompson, Evelyn Rollins, Geraldine Perry, Ardith Lowe and Helen Davis, sang a medley of Christmas airs; and the "Little" Rocks, a trio of sisters, sang a medley of Christmas tunes also. The primary department gave several songs. Mrs. Veda Thomson, the church organist presided at the organ console. Mrs. Mary Bennett, the church chorister, directed.

Following the program gifts were distributed from the Christmas tree to all children. E. A. Rea acted the role of Santa Claus. The Reverend G. W. Brown was in charge of the meeting.

EASTERN STAR INSTALLS

DOHENY PARK, Dec. 28.—The new officers of the San Clemente chapter, Order of the Eastern Star were installed at the Social club house Monday evening. Maybelle Moe of Doheny Park and Captain Albert N. Parks of San Juan Capistrano were seated as worthy matron and the worthy patron. Mrs. Moe was gowned in white crepe de chene and carried a large bouquet of red and yellow tulle roses, a gift of the worthy patron. Corsages worn by all the officers were made by E. A. Neddermeyer of San Clemente and were gifts of the worthy matron.

The hall was beautifully decorated with red berries, leaves and poinsettias donated by Mrs. John Olson of Doheny Park. The San Juan Community Church, of which Captain Parks is pastor, sent huge baskets of flowers to the worthy matron and worthy patron, which added to the beauty of the decorations. Captain Parks was a member of the Coronado chapter in San Diego. Mrs. Moe first took her vows of the Eastern Star in Radland Chapter, No. 7, Newark, New Jersey. Later she continued chapter work in Miami Beach, Florida.

The opening ceremony was most impressive as the little niece of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bartlett of San Clemente, Naomi Dreary, placed the Bible on the altar. The only lights were the ones from the five-point star. The light from the center of the star shed its rays on the open Bible below. The five-point star was made by Fred Moe, husband of the worthy matron, and presented to the chapter by the junior past patron, William Holmes, and accepted in behalf of the chapter by Inez Crossley Holmes.

The star points are, Arab, Bertha Jacobs; Ruth, Edna Hauser; Esther, Lydia Bartlett; Martha, Elizabeth Layton; Electa, Helen Wolfe; Warder, Sarah Rogers; Sentinel, Edward Bartlett; flag bearer, Fred Shork.

The organist was Frances Buxton.

The opening number of the program was a singing and whistling duet, "The Bells of St. Mary's" by Mrs. Orville Jones and Mrs. Faye Greenside with Mrs. George C. Gillett at the piano. Mrs. Moe dedicated the number to her husband.

"We Three Kings of the Orient Are" was sung by Dr. and Mrs. Orville Jones and Mrs. George C. Gillett. Dr. Jones accompanied them on his guitar. Later in the evening, Mrs. Gillett sang "Reichardt," a prayer, playing her own accompaniment. The gavel, the worthy matron presented to Mrs. Moe. It was made aboard the Stranger, a ship which has sailed many seas, by Edward Weeks. It was made of sandalwood from the South Sea Islands. The worthy patron was presented with a smaller gavel by the worthy matron. This gavel was also made of sandalwood. A miniature battleship, which was appropriate and symbolic, was given to Captain Parks by Mrs. Moe.

Masons, O. E. S. Observe St. John's Day

LAGUNA BEACH, Dec. 28.—Joint services, celebrating St. John's Day, were participated in by Masons and members of the Eastern Star at St. Mary's Episcopal church, Laguna Beach, last night. The Rev. Robert M. Hogarth, Junior, Warden-elect of Laguna Beach lodge, F. and A. M., and pastor of St. Mary's, preached the sermon, his text being: "St. John the Evangelist, Master Builder."

A quartette of mixed voices, composed of Masons and Eastern Star members, rendered various appropriate selections. Marie Thurston, soprano; Lauretta Chilton, alto; Gilbert Wilson, baritone; and B. H. Latham, tenor, were members of the quartette. Mr. Wilson also sang two of his compositions, "The Builders," and "The Master Workman." Dan Grant, organist, was accompanist.

Many visiting Masons and members of the O. E. S. were present at the service, as well as a full representation of the local lodges.
